CITRUS SCALE SCARE

J. C. SHERER, CITY CLERK, SAYS DEADLY PARASITE DOES NOT ATTACK APPLE TREES

"Quite a scare was thrown into the hearts of some citrus growers in Glendale last week," said Mr. J. C. Sherer, city clerk, to a representative of the Glendale Evening News. "It was thought by some of them that the deadly "cottony cushion scale" had reappeared in this district. This idea arose from the fact that something resembling the cottony cushion scale had been found on apple trees in a certain quarter.

"The matter was brought to my attention by one of the growers and I examined the scale which had been found on the apple trees and discovered, as I had thought, that the parasite on the apple trees had no real resemblance to the cottony scale, beyond that it was white. For another reason I had little fear that the scale on the apple tree would prove to be the cottony scale as it has never been known to attack apple trees or trees of that order. So that the citrus growers of Glendale need have no fear of the return of the scale.

"Those who remember the ravages committed by the cottony cushion scale twenty-five years ago in this district will have little difficulty in understanding why citrus growers should take alarm at the report that the scale had reappeared. At that time the scale practically destroyed the greater part of the citrus groves and left the industry in a crippled condition.

"Every remedy was tried in vain, until scientific men advised the search for an enemy of the scale that could be introduced and would destroy it. After long search it was found that in Australia there was a species of ladybug which was a deadly foe to the scale. This insect was scientifically known as "Vedalia Cardinalis." On the introduction of the Vedalia into California the plague of scale ceased like magic.

"At that time I had about a dozen orange trees on my ranch. They like so many others, had been attacked by the cottony cushion or oleander scale. The scale was simply eating the trees up as fast as they could be devoured. Judge Ross had obtained a supply of the Vedalia from the State Horticultural Department, and I was able to get a dozen from him. I placed the ladybugs on the trees and waited in some doubt as to the result. It was not before long the result was seen. Within two weeks the ladybugs had cleared the trees entirely of the scale and they were saved.

The singular thing about the beneficent Australian ladybug is that after it has devoured the scale it disappears. It is said, but with what truth I do not know, that having eaten up the scale, the ladybugs turn and devour each other, after the style of the Kilkenny cats. Anyway the disappear. At the State department at Sacramento they have to keep the bugs carefully covered lest they lose them.

"It is said that the cyaniding now in common use for the citrus trees prevents the return of the scale. Whether that is so or not the State Horticultural Department has always on hand sufficient Vedalia to handle any incipient outbreak of the scale.

FOR OUT OF TOWN VISITOR

Ushering in a gay whirl of pre-Christmas parties in which the younger set are to be featured, was the delightfully informal dance given by Miss Katherine Renshaw in the parental home at 1462 Lomita Ave. on the evening of Saturday, honoring her house guest, Miss Vivian Amet of Redondo Beach.

Mrs. Joseph Renshaw assisted her daughter in dispensing gracious hospitality.

The perfect dance music, furnished by Mr. Herbert Henning, was dispensed with long enough for the huge Christmas pie to be cut—this disclosed very amusing gifts and the "personal" of some provoked much laughter and fun.

Those bidden to meet the dainty visitor and trip the light fantastic in rooms gayly bright with the season's holly and scarlet blooms, were the Misses Marjory Imler, Katherine Phillips, Evangeline Hunchberger, Esther Schremp, Margaret Boucher, Juanita Emery, Helen Swenson, Muriel Turner, Ernestine Lyon, Mildred Wight and Cecelia Lyon, the Messrs. Floyd Stokes, Thomas Phillips, Edwin Heacock, Henson Garrett, Wilfred Long, Howard McGillis, Olin Wilson, Eugene Imler, Edward Seay, William Bode and Ralph Miles.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Tuesday; frost Tuesday morning; northwest winds.

FOOTHILL CL

NORTH GLENDALE CLUB LADIES HOLD MEETING OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

At the recent meeting of the Foothill club, Friday afternoon with the ever gracious hostess, Mrs. G. E. Larkey, in her home at 1305 N. Central avenue, assisted by Mrs. L. Oliver, an unusual and exceedingly interesting program pertaining to the season was thoroughly enjoyed by those attending.

The topic by Miss Mary Foy was "The Development of the Ideal That Had Promoted and Maintained the Peace Spirit," from the Pagan ages down and through the 20th century. Miss Foy delighted her hearers with the masterly presentation of this great subject, leaving no doubt in their minds that there is but one rule in life for all, if peace and good will is to prevail on earth. The human heart must be trained to respond to love and gentleness and not hate and avarice.

Miss Paula Dunnigan of Los Angeles, and second speaker for the afternoon, chose, "Idealism vs. Materialism," leaving absolutely no doubt as to where the burden of responsibility lies, if the mothers of the human race bequeath uxeo prosperity, the nucleus of an ideal civilization a few generations of the ideal trait of education. Miss Dunnigan said, education, which has birth to deal with the lisping babe at the mother's knee, must tend the present —— — note desire for things material.

Mrs. Harry Stahlsteiner of Denver, a cousin of the afternoon's hostess, sang many dear old-time favorites, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Old Man's Dream," "Believe," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and others by request, Mrs. Elizabeth Knox, another cousin visiting from Tonopah, Nevada, at the piano.

Little Marie Oliver sang a Christmas carol, playing her own accompaniment, in sweet, child-like simplicity.

A tasty, old-fashioned repast of hot gingerbread, coffee, Christmas cakes and candies was served in rooms harmoniously done in roses, daisies and Christmas holly intermingled with fern fronds.

On January 21 Mrs. Charles H. Toll will receive as hostess.

A NEW SANTA CLAUS WANTED

The old "fraud" went with the old year, if e'er again he should appear, let every one wish express that he come in becoming dress. He cannot our affections hold and dress as if it e'er was cold in summer-robed Los Angeles—'tis elsewhere where the people freeze.

And yet, he for our smile appeals close wrapped in fur from head to heels, dings in our ears those sleigh bells old to make believe its awful cold and many a lying story said, about his reindeer and his sled. How coming from that other town, he struck a stone that threw him down. "If I came not, I knew you'd cry, I ran part way and here am I."

This fur-clad "fraud" beyond a doubt has frightened many people out of westward trip, "Why go out there, just see the duds their "Santas" wear, by this to me the proof is clear, it's just as cold out there as here."

And, hence I say, "Old fraud" skidoo, for we have had enough of you, but should you ever come again, don't let your wrappings give us pain, not what you wear where mercury mounts, but what you don't—ah, that's what counts! So let your next year wrappings be the lightest of back, nor furs nor blankets shall it transparency. With gauzy mus'ins fill your pack, or surely will you be sent hold—what, make this glorious climate cold? Nay, nay, we will not have it so. Come light clad or forever go. Obey or be henceforth outlawed, you blankety, blanketed old fraud. SAMUEL PARKER

WM. B. VEMHOFF

Wm. B. Vemhoff died at the home of his mother, 414 W. Ninth street, Glendale, Sunday, December 19, at 5 o'clock, aged 45 years. The Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking company are the funeral directors in charge. Services will be held at the Holy Family church Wednesday at 9 a. m.

A minister of the gospel maintains that "it is the duty of the Bible Society to put Bibles into the homes of the poor-rich as well as those of the poor-poor." Most society people, he says, haven't any Bibles in their homes. But would it do any good to give Bibles to the rich? Wouldn't it work better to sell them expensive Bibles at subscription prices? Then they might read them.

ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN-NEW ZEALAND FORCES TO NUMBER OF 100,000 SAFELY EMBARKED

All the Anglo-Australian-New Zealand troops in that neighborhood were on board the transports this morning. More than 100,000 men were thus withdrawn from the "Anzac" region. It is not known what may be the destination of the troops; but it is thought that they may be sent to Saloniki.

BULGARIANS TEAR DOWN AMERICAN FLAG

KING FERDINAND'S SOLDIERS CONFISCATE RED CROSS SUPPLIES AND ABUSE MEDICAL ATTENDANTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SALONIKI, Dec. 20.—Raiding the American Red Cross headquarters at Monastir today, a strong party of Bulgarians tore down the American flag, with every expression of insult. They then looted the stores of the hospital and confiscated 20 carloads of flour that had been sent for the relief of the starving Servians. When Mrs. Walter Farwell of Chicago, a lady of means, who has devoted herself to this relief work, remonstrated with them, the soldiers insulted her and gave her a very severe and shameful handling. Dr. Harry Forbes of Boston, who was in charge of the hospital, also remonstrated vigorously and informed the officer in charge of the party that the United States would demand reparation, the officer encouraged his men to beat the doctor with their sword pommels. A strong protest has been sent to Washington today by Edward Stuart, chief of the American Red Cross.

BRITISH PREMIER REPEATS THAT THE ALLIES ARE ALWAYS READY TO LISTEN TO "SERIOUS" PROPOSALS

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Premier Asquith refused to reply to the recent peace suggestions of Baron Von Bethmann-Hollweg, German Imperial Chancellor. The premier made it very plain that the Allies did not for one moment regard the German proposals as serious. Asquith said: "The Allies are always ready to listen to serious peace proposals."

Mrs. A. T. Davis of 515 Orange Grove was a recent luncheon hostess, at which time she entertained old friends moving here from Trinidad, Colorado. At the dainty board, brightened with assorted blossoms, covers were arranged for Mrs. N. A. Clark, Miss Anna Clark and Miss Mary Clark, the latter here to spend the holidays with her sister and mother after a five years' absence in Rio de Janiero, South America. Miss Clark will return to her South American home immediately after January first.

PROVING A SURPRISE PARTY

The G. E. Larkeys of 1305 N. Central Ave. had as dinner and evening guests for Friday, Miss Mary Foy and Miss Paula Dunnigan of Los Angeles, Mrs. W. F. Bryant of Hollywood, Mrs. Harry Stahlsteiner of Denver and Mrs. Elizabeth Knox of Tonopah, both cousins of Mrs. Larkey.

Early in the evening the door bell sounded, Mr. Larkey answering, and there to his great surprise were the 35 instructors of the 7th St. school, Los Angeles.

The guests were ushered into the attractive home and during the evening presented Mr. Larkey with a beautiful Masonic pin, reminding him that they had remembered his natal day.

During the evening by request Miss Mary Foy gave a few interesting remarks upon "Education" and Miss Galpin of the Los Angeles High school spoke of "Social Conscience and Individual Conscience."

Musical numbers and refreshments sped the remaining hours.

CHILDREN IN RED CROSS SALE

Children are among the most eager buyers and enthusiastic sellers of Red Cross Seals. In scores of other cities, such as Cleveland, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Providence, Wilmington, Harrisburg, Washington and Seattle, the boys and girls are helping to fight tuberculosis with Red Cross Seals. One nine-year old girl in Duluth last year sold 4,500 seals in four days. A Meriden, Conn., boy of ten sold 50,000 in three weeks. A Wilmington, Del., girl of twelve sold 10,000. Some of the children in Buffalo sold over 1,000 in a week. The schools of St. Louis sold over 250,000 seals, and in other cities they added large sums to the anti-tuberculosis fund.

Everywhere the boys and girls are going in the fight against tuberculosis by selling Red Cross Seals.

Red Cross Seals are on sale at the Glendale Pharmacy and at Spencer's Store.

UNEARTHED DEAD HORSE

Residents in the neighborhood of Colorado and Everett streets were annoyed Thursday by the odor of decay arising from their neighborhood. Investigation showed that some children playing on the vacant lots where the circus was held discovered the foot of a horse sticking out of the ground and impelled by childish curiosity had unearthed the body. This disinterment poisoned the air around and the police were notified, and the nuisance removed. The people of the neighborhood, however, are wondering if there is no ordinance forbidding the interment of dead animals, like horses and cows, etc., within the city limits. They suggest that when any circus or animal show comes to the city it be warned against such a practice.

Yuan Shi Kai has not overlooked anything in the way of political opportunities in his native land. And nothing that he has seen along this line has succeeded in eluding him.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

SKILLED VOCAL, INSTRUMENTAL AND DRAMATIC ARTISTS FURNISH ATTRACTIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Under the auspices of the Sons and Daughters of the British Empire a grand Red Cross Concert was given Friday evening in Glendale Union High school. The auditorium was crowded with an appreciative and discriminative audience. It was presided over by Mr. O. A. Lane, mayor of Glendale. The program was opened with Sousa's sprightly and appropriate march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," which was given by the High school orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Dora Gibson, with great vim and expression. The orchestra then continued with Boiledieu's peculiarly oriental march "The Caliph of Bagdad." This, which was a popular favorite in the days of long ago, proved a very charming and dainty part of the program.

Mrs. Cunningham sang a sweet and piquant villanelle which deservedly won much applause.

While every item on the program was of a high order it would not be too much to say that Cecil Crandall's violin solos in the musical section were the outstanding feature. Young Crandall seems to improve every time he is heard in public. His interpretation of the "Viennese Melody" by Gaertner, arranged for the violin by Kreisler, the noted maestro. was characterized with a deep understanding of the theme and a masterly exhibition of bowing. The second number of Crandall's contribution was a "Madrigale" composed by himself. Like all the violinists compositions, this was full of youth, beauty and the climate of California.

Mr. C. H. Cunningham, who is a baritone of great power and richness, sang the famous "Armourer's Song." Dorothy Bonnell, one of Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan's pupils, showed the result of excellent training in her character song, "The Token." Her power of expression is quite remarkable. From classical vocal music and the spirituality of Crandall's violin playing it was a far cry to the pipe music furnished by Watson's Pipe Band; but the audience seemed to enjoy the contrast. In truth, the bagpipe is an outdoors instrument. Wailing up the lone'y glens of Scotland or playing with swinging stride a Scottish regiment into action, it is inimitable, appropriate and soul-inspiring, but it is a question whether it is not somewhat foreign to the concert hall. Still the excellent pibrochs, quicksteps, strathspeys and reels, blown up by Watson's men were enjoyed by the audience.

Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan gave one of her original sketches, "The Worldly-Mindedness of Josiah," bright with a quaint humor and delivered in the inimitable style that makes Mrs. Sloan so great a favorite on the reading platform. Prof. Lowinski, a violinist of some note, whose faithfulness of interpretation and almost perfect technique, render his playing highly acceptable to his hearers, gave a charming violin solo.

Throughout the second part of the program the same artists and artistes played their parts with great acceptance in other roles. One of the features in this section was the "Harmonic Posing" of Dorothy Bonnell, Miss Lillian Mason presiding at the piano. The plastic poses of this young girl were remarkable for their artistic and physical value. Mrs. Sloan's scene from "Hamlet," in which she was assisted by Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke, was given with wonderful dramatic insight, and with the aid of that accomplished lady's melodious voice was made remarkably acceptable and powerfully interesting.

DEATH OF MISS MARY HAAS

Miss Mary Haas, who has been a resident in Glendale for more than two years, died Friday at 714 W. Broadway, after a long illness. Miss Haas was 48 years of age. She suffered from cancer. The funeral services were held in the Pulliam Undertaking Company's chapel, Friday afternoon after which the body was conveyed to the Los Angeles crematory, where, according to instructions it will remain for five days before being cremated.

MRS. CUMMINGS

Mrs. Kate Cummings, mother of Mrs. H. E. Hoffer of 665 E. Acacia avenue, passed away December 18 in San Bernardino. Funeral services will be held in the Holy Family Church, Glendale, Tuesday morning, at 9 o'clock, the Scovern-Letton-Frey company in charge of the arrangements.

DEFECTS IN NEUTRALITY LAWS

There are many points in which the neutrality laws of the United States are deficient. The country might have gone a long time without experiencing any inconvenience on account of the old neutrality laws had it not been for the war in Europe. That war with its peculiar developments arising out of the plotting and conspiracies in the United States has revealed the fact that even where vital interests of the United States are at stake the laws bearing on international relations are defective.

There is no adequate law under which the Government may seize and retain arms and ammunition which are being exported or which there is reason to believe are being exported in violation of the President's proclamation of an embargo on shipments of arms to Mexico, pursuant to the joint resolution of Congress of 1912. Neither is there any adequate law under which the Government may seize and retain arms and ammunition about to be used in connection with military expeditions prohibited by Section 13 of the Federal Penal Code. Obviously the end in view is the prevention of the export of arms in the one case and the prevention of the expedition in the other, and as an effective means to that end it is necessary to have power to seize arms and ammunition under the circumstances stated.

Never has there been in the history of the United States a more extraordinary conspiracy against the peace and welfare of the commonwealth than the series of plots aimed against American industries by foreigners and their sympathisers at the present moment. The full revelations of this gigantic plot have not yet been made known, but it is known that its ramifications are spread throughout the whole country and that in many cases through the defects in the law this country has been unable to deal with them. It is now recommended by the attorney-general of the United States that it be specifically made a crime against the United States to place bombs or other explosives on vessels sailing from the ports of the United States.

How absolutely indifferent foreign governments and their subjects may become toward the rights of other nations and the decencies of intercourse with them is seen in the careless readiness with which foreign vessels of war have made use of the United States ports as refuges from their enemies and taking advantage of the full time limit at last intern under the protection and guarantee of the United States.

So far that is all right. The guaranty of the United States is wide enough and powerful enough to shelter the refugees of many nations; but, as the attorney-general points out, after having obtained this refuge and consented to this guaranty, by which they agree to become non-combatants it is a misuse of hospitality for refugees of whatever nation they may be to escape from the mild detention of this republic and go to resume their belligerency.

That has been done, and yet there is no authority vested in any department of the Government or in any official of the Government to arrest and return to detention any such escaping or escaped person. That such necessary laws should be enacted goes without saying; yet so slow is the course of legislation at times that many serious events may occur before the needed weapons be put into the hands of the attorney-general to combat such breaches of national good faith. It should be made possible also to deal with all parties summarily when they have been involved in a gigantic conspiracy through which the nation has lost many millions' worth of property and hundreds of lives.

THE SWAN, THE PIKE AND THE CRAB

(From J. Pollen's "Rhymes From the Russian")

Whene'er companions don't agree,
They work without accord;
And naught but trouble doth result,
Although they all work hard.

One day a Swan, A Pike, A Crab,
Resolved a load to haul.
All three were harnessed to the cart,
And pulled together all.

. . . . . .

The Swan pulled upwards to the skies
The Crab did backwards crawl,
The Pike made for the water straight
This proved no use at all.

Now which of them was most to blame
'Tis not for me to say,
But this I know,—the load is there
Unto this very day.

HINTS ON FUDGE-MAKING

Stirring while hot makes fudge liable to grain. You can be more certain of making soft, creamy fudge if you let it heat gradually and do not stir after it begins to boil. Some people even wait, before beating the fudge, until it is cold, so as to make sure that it will not become grainy.

If you wish your fudge to be rich, use chocolate instead of cocoa. Two squares of chocolate, melted over hot water, take the place of three tablespoonfuls of cocoa.

Do not add nuts while the fudge is hot. The heat wilts the nuts and takes part of their flavor away.

Never add vanilla until after the fudge has been removed from the fire, as the flavor of vanilla goes off in steam if it is allowed to boil.

PAPER FROM GRASS

The department of agriculture has been experimenting on making paper from grass. This grass grows on the Pacific slope and in western Mexico. So far the results of the trials have been very good. The paper is a first-grade, machine-finished printing paper, satisfactory in appearance and feeling. The process is a simpler one than making paper from wood pulp, one operation being omitted. It takes a little more bleaching powder than poplar stock does.

If wire grass is used for paper-making on a large scale it will mean a big belt in forest conservation. At present wood in the United States is being used about three times as fast as it grows. The demand increases constantly. If we are to keep our production and consumption of wood balanced, which is the aim of good forestry, substitutes for wood are needed in order to let production catch up with the demand. The use of wire grass in paper manufacture would not only save a vast amount of wood pulp each year, but by so doing would assist in keeping down the price of paper.

COCO FUDGE

One fourth cup of milk, 1½ tablespoonfuls of butter, 1¼ cups of powdered sugar, 9 teaspoonfuls of coco, a pinch of salt, ½ teaspoon of vanilla. Put the sugar and butter in a saucepan; when it has melted add the sugar, coco and salt; stir this until it is dissolved, boil for eight minutes, remove from the stove, set in a pan of cold water add the vanilla and beat gently for one half minute. Pour into a buttered pan and cut into squares.

King Ferdinand of Bulgaria recently announced that Servia had been vanquished, Macedoria freed, and the wrongs of Bulgaria avenged; whereupon all Sofia went crazy, illuminated their city and drank enormous quantities of wine. As an aftermath of this premature rejoicing the "exterminated" Servians inflicted a crushing defeat on the Bulgarian army in Albania, Thursday, and Greece threatens to fight Ferdinand's men if they enter her territory.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. W. E. Edmonds stepped aside from the usual groove in which Christmas sermons are found, based as they usually are upon the familiar texts taken from the Gospel account of the Nativity, and on Sunday morning preached from the text, found in 2 Cor. 9:15, "Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift." Naturally the text suggested the subject of gifts and this testimony of St. Paul as to the value and nature of the greatest gift of all to man, is of great interest.

The speaker told of reading an account of the great number of returned letters in the Dead Letter department of the postoffice at Washington, addressed to Santa Claus, hundreds in number, and of all these that had been opened it was found that only one of them was a letter of thanks. This seemed to indicate that the prime thought in the minds of children in this connection, is the idea of receiving gifts, the purely selfish thought, and against this he wished to warn parents and teachers most earnestly, that the spirit of giving might be developed in the young mind. Do away with the fiction that surrounds the Christmas season and put Christ in its stead, for this is not a P gan holiday, but a Christian Holy Day.

There are four great words associated with the Manger of Bethlehem, Atonement, Forgiveness, Redemption and Salvation. A preacher had a dream once and seemed to see a world in which there was no Bible, no Hymn Book, no church, no hospital, no asylums, no charitable institution of any kind, for out of this great gift all of these things have grown; but, thank God, this was only a dream. This great gift was free for it was given to the world while all were sinners, it was not given for our deserving. Let us mark a new departure in gift giving this Christmas time.

There is little merit in giving to our friends, for "If you love those who love you, what thank have you?" Let us give good gifts to our enemies. Here is an everlasting gift, but there is one thing to be borne in mind—the gift must be accepted. You must know Christ, know that He is not only an influence, but a person. The question for each one of us during this Christmas week is, what am I going to do with Jesus?"

TROPICO

Among the many artists who will participate in "The Nativity," a beautiful Christmas story, to be given Christmas Eve and Christmas night in Los Angeles will be Miss Elsie Anderson of Virginia Place. This beautiful story of the birth of our Christ was written by Miss Susan Ott of Tropico.

Mrs. J. A. Kearney, Mrs. John Smith and Miss Mary Hifle of Los Angeles were charmingly entertained at a prettily appointed luncheon with which Mrs. Charles Wallace Kimberly entertained at her home on South San Fernando boulevard, recently.

Mr. Patton, of 1415 Burchett St., arrived home Wednesday. He has been busy attending to the development of his silver mine in Tonopah, Nev. After spending the Christmas season in Glendale it is likely that the whole family will return to Tonopah. They are likely to return here however, as both Mr. and Mrs. Patton are charmed with Glendale, its people, its climate and its picturesque surroundings.

Mrs. E. V. Bacon president of the Welfare Committee of Tropico urges all charitably inclined persons to communicate with her either in extending charity or giving the names and addresses of persons deserving charity. By this means it is hoped that much of the suffering will be relieved, as well as aid given to only those who are deserving such.

This Welfare committee is composed of Mrs. E. V. Bacon, president; Robert N. Taylor, vice president; and Mrs. Wesley H. Bullis, secretary and treasurer, and one representative from each local organization. The object of this committee is to work in conjunction with similar associations in Los Angeles and throughout the country in giving aid and assistance to the deserving needy and thus eliminate the many frauds and impostors who are simply chronic grafters living off of public charity and thus taking from those who are really objects of charity. A few days ago a young boy and girl called at various homes in Tropico seeking aid, telling pitiful tales of want and distress. Mrs. Bacon and Mrs. Bullis began an investigation and learned that this young couple were simply frauds and undeserving. When these impostors learned that their case has been investigated they immediately left town. This case is but one of the many which the Welfare Committee investigates. Mrs. Bacon and her committee are anxious to give aid to all worthy persons and desire the cooperation of all in assisting either in giving or in sending the names of all needy to them.

A splendid program was presented at the recent meeting of the Norton Art Club, held at the residence of Mrs. Samuel A. Ayres, on N. Central Ave. Interesting papers were read by Mrs. Frank I. Marsh, Mrs. Percy Priaulx and Mrs. W. G. Chapman on the Women of Greece and their work. Miss Elsie Anderson very charmingly told the story of Niobe and her desolation; the revenge of Latona by her children, Apollo and Diana.

Mrs. Laura Frances Sampson of Los Angeles was the week end guest of her sister, Mrs. James W. Tuppen of North San Fernando boulevard.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps will be held in G. A. R. hall Friday afternoon, December 24. Meeting will be called at 2:15. Business of importance.

Mrs. Wayland Brown who spent the past week in Covina coaching the students of the high school in their class play "The Golden Dust," has returned home and will resume her classes in dancing and dramatic art.

Master Earl Mead of Sixth St. is reported to be seriously ill with pneumonia. Dr. Chase is in attendance.

Mr. S. E. Bangle of 147 N. Prichard St., Los Angeles was in North Glendale on business last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Scott of 1533 Burchett St., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson of Rockwood St. Los Angeles, for the day last Friday.

Mr. Spencer Murry of New York City, who has spent the past year in North Glendale, left last Friday for his eastern home that he might spend Christmas with his parents.

Miss Mabel Eckles of 920 N. Central Ave. was the guest of Miss Agnes Scott of San Fernando Road over the week end.

Mrs. Phillip Ballerino of Bell Station was the guest of Mrs. Oliver E. Wright of 1649 Ruth St. last Saturday.

"Peace hath its victories, no less renowned than war" was never truer than in the marriage state.

Make a practice to read something every day at spare times. Specialize as much as possible. It will surprise you how much knowledge you will gain.

When women complain of man's pursuit, it is often an admission of vanity that prompts them.

Conscience is an awakened love for our fellowmen.

Prayer is the desire of the soul, expressed in words.

MODERATION

In work or play never overdo. Balzac said: "By two instinctive processes man exhausts the springs of life within him. Two verbs cover all the forms which these two causes may take—to will and to have your will." If you will to do too much in any line you exhaust the springs of life. To keep health, to keep young as long as possible, strive in work and in play, in eating and thinkink, to preserve the golden mean.

GREAT MASS OF RAW MATERIAL RECEIVED BY DODGE BROS. EACH DAY

The traffic department at Dodge Brothers faces not only the problem of shipping out the manufactured cars but of promptly handling all raw materials and supplies to prevent congestion at the unloading points.

And the immensity of this task is partially realized when it is known that the incoming traffic amounts to an average of 100 carloads of freight daiiy.

In this are 400 tons of coal for the steam boi'ers, 15,000 gallons of fuel oil for the heat treating plants, 225,000 pounds of steel for parts, six tons of sand for the foundries, 55 tons of pig iron for the gray iron foundry, 30,000 pounds of brass for the brass foundry and 10,000 pounds of aluminum for the aluminum foundry.

THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS

Once a little girl wrote this letter to the editor of the New York Sun:

Dear Editor: I am 8 years old. Some of my friends say that there is no Santa Claus. Papa says: "If you see it in the Sun, it's so." Please tell me the truth. Is there a Santa Claus? Virginia O. Hanlon.

And the editor of the Sun, mighty man of invective and sarcasm, became "even as a little child," and wrote the following charming reply:

Virginia: Your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They will not believe except they see.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa C'aus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

You might get your papa to hire men to watch all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither chi'dren nor men see. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in this wor'd. You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest that ever lived could ever tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love and romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing so real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God, he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia—nay, ten times ten thousand years from now—he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

FILMS FOR CHILDREN

From different parts of the country we hear occasional reference to the matter of films for children, but this is a subject which has not yet been considered seriously by the producers of motion pictures nor has provision been made by the leaders in the industry to produce and distribute film subjects of this nature, says Picture Progress. This has been due neither to indifference nor neglect, but primarily to the fact that these men have had more than enough to do in producing regular features in the overwhelmingly rapid development of the business during the past eighteen months.

This being the case, briefly and frankly stated, a splendid thing for women do is to make the best use possible of the pictures already on the market suitable for children. In the first place, it should not be supposed for a moment that every motion picture should be seen by children. No sane parent would think of putting into the hands of children any books without reference to their contents. The screen is only another form of literature, and parents and educators have some responsibility in considering the screen lessons which children are permitted to see.

There are already on the market a number of beautiful productions especially suited to children, besides travel pictures, which are always desirable. Parents who will make a careful selection from the offerings at the local theater, and who may perhaps request their exhibitor to show additionally other pictures—such as Cinderella, for example—will be able to solve, at least in part, the problem of providing their "kinder" with satisfactory motion picture entertainment.

A mendicant stood forth arrayed in a cloud of gloom and a placard bearing the legend, "I am Deaf and Dumb." Comes old Festus Pester, bearing a grouch that would have put a hyena to shame.

"Huh!" he snarled. "What's the need of that sign? I see you are deaf and dumb!"

"Like heck, you can!" returned the afflicted one. You don't see deaf and dumbness, you pickle headed fool; you hear it!"—Kansas City Star.

The Congregationa' and Methodist Sunday school children's Christmas exercises will take place this Thursday evening at each of the churches mentioned.

Several from Eagle Rock are planning on attending Hamburger's Arrow Theater this week to see the pictures and hear the roaring of the mighty Atlantic Ocean through the telephone connections made by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. This is a most wonderful and the rarest of treats and should be appreciated by citizens of Los Angeles and surrounding territory.

VIRTUE OF THE BATH

John Wesley taught that "cleanliness is next to godliness"—an idea he quoted from the Talmud.

And now the warden of Sing Sing prison says he has found baths in the Hudson river an excellent means of improving the "spiritual status" of the prisoners.

Can there be any wonder as to that, even if the improved "spiritual status" thus a'tained be not of a very lasting sort?

An American Association for Promoting Hygiene and Public Baths has gathered much testimony from principals of pubilc schools in New York to the effect that the "ordinary school bath" has a wonderfully good effect on the "ungraded classes" of children, more or less defective. The chief benefit is said to consist in an "enhancement of alertness" that helps the teachers greatly in their work.—Sacramento Bee.

"Say, Mister, could you spare a poor fellow ten cents? I've been in the hospital ten days and just got out and I'm awful——"

"Yes, yes; here's the dime; first moving picture show is just two blocks west."

THE BROAD PASS REGION OF ALASKA

The Broad Pass region of Alaska, which has long been considered a possible source of mineral wealth, has taken on additional interest since the announcement of the route chosen for the new Government railroad connecting the Pacific coast with the interior of Alaska.

In anticipation of the probable demand for information about this region the United States Geological Survey began the work of mapping its topography and geology in 1913, and now presents the results of the work in Bulletin 608, by F. H. Moffit, "The Broad Pass Region, Alaska."

Broad Pass is the western part of a wide glacial valley which is bordered by steep, straight mountain walls and which lies parallel with a great east-west range on the north and connects the upper valleys of Chulitna and Susitna rivers. Nenana River, a tributary of the Tanana, occupies the eastern part of the region. The valley of Jack River, which crosses Broad Pass just above the narrow val'ey of the Nenana, before that stream passes through the Alaska Range, provides the route by which the railroad will cross from the Susitna-Chulitna drainage basin to that of the Tanana. The upper parts of streams tributary to Chulitna and Jack rivers overlap each other within Broad Pass, there being no appreciable divide between, so that the grades from the head of the Chulitna to the head of the Susitna are gentle and there is no obstruction. North and south of Broad Pass are high mountains. Those on the north are part of the great range from which only 70 miles to the west, rise Mount McKinley and, nearby on the east, Cathedral Mountain and Mount Hayes. There is a fair growth of timber in the larger val'eys but most of the country is above the timber line. This region has long been a favorite hunting ground for the Indians of the Susitna Valley.

The geological conditions in the region appear to be favorable to mineralization, but no valuable ore bodies have yet been discovered. The most favorable reports come from the district just west of Broad Pass, near the head of Chulitna River, where prospecting has been carried on for several years. Valdez Creek, an important gold placer district, lies about 30 miles east of the pass. Along some of the streams between Broad Pass and Valdez Creek there are prospects of placer gold, which, however, has not been found in commercial quantity. Copper prospects, too, have been discovered in several parts of the region, and at one place, Coal Creek, there is a small area of coal.

The railroad, which will probably soon reach this region, will aid greatly in its development. The wealth of the Broad Pass region appears to be mineral rather than agricultural, and it can be profitably exploited only by a greater population and through better means of transportation.
